

The days have passed quickly since 2004

The days have passed quickly since 2004
Since the last time we partied the Yule and more
This year that has passed, was good I believe
With the food and the drinks, it was quite a reprieve

The Football Team this fall, brought home their award
As the other Greenwood teams do, to display their reward
The teams make us proud, as we give them a cheer
But I don't think its all work, it's mostly for beer

The 'Wood looks its best, this time of the year
Paul plugs in the lights and Christmas is here!
There's soap in the men's room and toilet paper for you
A fresh coat of paint and new tile too

Other improvements he's made, one only could guess
In spite of the old adage that "Moe is less"
Some day in the future, as the old one is crappy
We might get a big screen, so Hornaday's happy

Let's raise up our glasses and give a big cheer
To the friends no longer with us, their pictures up here
Their memories still linger, in our little niche
Somewhere Bill's not happy, about the rules for pitch

Time now to finish, this annual verse of mine
So may not like it, while others find it divine
Let's get on with the party, as the year's almost done
Be sure to be careful, while you enjoy the night's fun
